TROOPS MASS AT COLUMBUS TO BEGIN THEIR PURSUIT OF BANDIT VILLA AND HIS GANG

Washington Will Grant Permission for
Carranza Troops to Cross the Border
When U. S. Soldiers Are Not in Sufficient Strength: The Crisis Is Near.

By Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, N. M., March 13.—Actual concentration of United States troops for an expedition into Mexico to try to capture Francisco Villa was begun here today.

From the heavy troop movement to Columbus it would seem, according to officers on station here, that this point is to be made a base of operations.

The force of General Pablo Urdaneta, commanding the Carranza garrison at Palomas, on the Mexican side of the border, south of here, was increased today by the arrival of 300 men bringing his forces to a total of 2,000 men.

By tonight or tomorrow it is expected that the American garrison here of 1,100 men will be augmented by the arrival of two regiments of infantry, a signal company, a hospital train, some mountain artillery from Fort Huachuca, Ariz., and a battery of the Sixth Field Artillery from Nogales, Ariz. Two squadrons of the Twelfth Cavalry from Fort Huachuca, N.M., are expected later.

All the way from Fort Huachuca, which is to go on station here, are apparently to be available for expeditionary purposes.

The battery of mountain artillery from Fort Huachuca is especially designed for the character of the country through which the punitive expedition is expected to pass.

Two troops of the Thirteenth Cavalry, F and G, have now returned to camp prepared to rejoin the Expeditionary force. One of these had been doing duty at Fort Huachuca 12 miles south also was returned, having been replaced by a company of infantry.

In striking contrast to the expeditionary force, days of preparations for the departure of the expedition progressed today with regularity and calm.

It is not expected here that the expedition to enter Mexico at least from this side will be started for several days because of the poor railroad facilities with which it is concentrated the troops.

Meanwhile, Francisco Villa, with his 10,000 men, is reported to be here. He is reported to be in the United States border daily, and in the mountains which parallel the borders of Chihuahua and Sonora toward Chihuahua, where his days as an outlaw are numbered, and where to almost every "Pichu" villa is hero.

Army men here believe that once back in the mountains among his friends, the pursuit of Villa is apt to resemble a game of hide and seek. Some officers believe that the pursuit may be a matter of months.

THE PLACATE CARRANZA,
WASHINGTON, March 13.—The United States will reply to General Carranza's note for a military arrangement for crossing of troops at the Mexican border late today after President Wilson has conferred with General Carranza. It was indicated that Carranza's proposal would be accepted.

The acceptance probably will be made on the ground that Carranza's troops may cross into American territory in pursuit of Mexican bandits that are not American soldiers. It will be pointed out that the auto supply companies would be able to buy in our market at greatly reduced prices. Representatives of auto supply companies were in Washington ready to testify that no such arrangement existed but they were not called when Chapman pleaded guilty.

Suit was entered today by William Wilson, Jr., against the Warner-Wright Auto Supply Company for $10,000 damages for injuries received at the mine of the company in Washington township last October.

Before Judge Van Swearingen, Jim Wilson tried on charges of unlawfulness and assault and battery with intent to commit murder. He was testified that on last Dec. 27, 1915, Muzzo went to the home of Fred Slatton to collect a store bill. He failed to secure the money, and pulled a knife from his pocket. It was declared and stated Slatton. The injured man was confined to his bed for several days. Muzzo was found guilty of unlawful cutting.

Another phase of the Wyo-Wilson trouble in Menallen township was settled today when A. S. Miller, attorney for the prosector in an assault and battery case against Louis C. Williams, the son of the same man who was to have started between Wilson and Williams, when Williams remanded him to keep him off the road and called him vile names.

FORM MILITARY CORPS.

Polish Club to Strongly Offers Its Services to the States.

The Young Men's Polish Club of Connellsville, loyal to their adopted country, have organized a military corps with members in charge of Camp Venecchia. They plan to drill regularly and frequently, many of them have served their land in the army of their native land; they will have little trouble becoming proficient.

A letter has been sent to Harrisburg offering the club's services to a reserve company of the National Guard, if he would not consent to America.

TROOPS DO NOT STAND.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 13.—So far as the present expeditionary force that will soon enter Villa is practicable today, Major General John J. Pershing announced this morning, "The general field preparations for the expedition were going on despite General Carranza's notification to Washington that he would not consent to America."

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Enjoying good health, Mrs. Elizabeth Reed, celebrated her 29th birthday yesterday at her home in North Sixth street, West Side, in the presence of her three sons, James D. Reed, Charles Reed and George Reed, all of Pittsburgh; her son, Mr. Edward Reed, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Reed, and Miss Mollie Carr, a sister of Mrs. Reed. Although very quiet the celebration was a happy family gathering and all present enjoyed the day more than the honor guest. There was a nicely appointed dinner, the feature of which was a large birthday cake baked by Mrs. Reed. Mrs. Reed is one of the oldest and most highly regarded residents of the West Side. She is one of the two young women who rode on the first Baltimore & Ohio passenger train from West Newton to Connellsville. The other passenger is Miss Anna Ellinor Howman of Mt. Lebanon, who is in her eighties.

Mrs. Reed was born at Flatwoods and before her marriage resided at Elizabeth Carr. She married Joseph Reed and the family came to the West Side in New Haven from Bellverton in 1872. At that time there were only three streets in the town. Mr. Reed was a blacksmith, blacksmith and at one time was employed at the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. His death occurred about 18 years ago. Mrs. Reed has never been seriously ill, which accounts for her remarkable activity.

Mrs. Reed's three sons are among the best known men in the employ of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company, having been in the company's service a number of years. Captain James D. Reed conductor on passenger trains No. 5 and No. 6, round out his 35 years in the service of the company, April 10. Twenty-five years he has been a passenger conductor, first out of Pittsburgh, for the past 16 years, serving as conductor on the Baltimore & Ohio, having been employed by the company 22 years, and has been a passenger engineer for about 15 years. He is at present on train No. 48 and second engineer to the conductor on extra passenger engines and has been in the service of the company for 46 years. There are two forms of Postum. The original Postum Cereal must be boiled; Instant Postum is quickly soluble in hot water, more convenient to prepare, and has the same rich flavor as the original Postum. WAR AND POLITICS.
The Democratic party sought its preparedness as issue for the coming campaign. This is somewhat marred by the fact that the Republicans have not yet done so. The Republicans, while the Democratic party has always opposed it, and a portion of the party headed by William Jennings Bryan is still protesting against it. However, some political writers are beginning to be anxious over the defeat of the Core and Alderman resolutions in the Senate and the House, though the vote on them was not a party vote each side having divided more or less equally.

The McLeans and Core resolutions, emphatically repudiated in the House and Senate recently, practically guaranteed their rights to travel on the high seas. The Emperor of Germany would have been pleased beyond measure if he had received such a guarantee from Congress.

The President and Core resolutions, though from the district of which Phoebe is a part, chose to stand with the Emperor of Germany and against the Emperor of Austria and Germany. When the President desired that no weight be given to his in comparison with what the Kaiser desired, he did not consider that the Kaiser had the welfare of the United States more at heart than has President Woodrow Wilson. No one can deny that the action of the action of any of 12 Republicans and two Democrats in the Senate and 100 Republicans and all Democrats in the House was a blow to the Kaiser.

Robert P. Hopwood, in his ambition to succeed his father in the 22nd congressional district, has already sold an office.

What should the voters of Fayette county do to the man who is on the side of the Kaiser? He ought to leave the executive of his own nation.

Moreover, what will they do to him?

He is a traitor to his country, and the submarine cannot operate on land.

Robert P. Hopwood voted the resolutions of his constituents.

The citizens of the 22nd Congressional District of Pennsylvania are indirectly interested in making large quantities of war material.

They will take enter into the manufacture of iron which produces steel used for munitions of war and numerous war supplies now being manufactured in this country. But the citizens of this district are interested in peace above all they currently deplore anything which may lead to war between this country and any of the European beligerents.

The Democratic administration is suspected of being willing to help any nation in its quest for its political effect. We hope this suspicion will prove untrue. Now that we have been supplied with a near-war with Mexico, it will perhaps not be regarded necessary.

In the meantime, however, The Courier desires to command Congressman Hopwood for his vote on the McLeans resolution, which, as explained in these columns, did not ask any American citizen to help any nation to fight, but merely to force one of them in the interest of (1) his personal safety and (2) the public peace.

This has been a busy winter for the blacksmiths.

The European war has made parts green too expensive for potato bags and the latter are preparing to protest against substitution.

Between Long and the Tuberous meetings Devil will have time to take a vacation.

The Galontown Genius advocates a permanent oratorio society.

Unonton has much musical talent. It will never develop earlier.

"Watchful Waiting" has been rewarded at last with a Bobtailed Bandit War.

There is hope for Mexico; also for the Democratic party.

The Democratic party has been an accident and its administration has been a failure. It seems an issue.

Villa has supplied it.

The horse is still with us in spite of the European war and the high price of gasoline.

If the Democratic party must have a war issue, let them be content with Villa.

CHANGING HABITS.

Progressives think the Legal Opinion spirit is growing. Perhaps both social and political progress are growing some, but neither so much as Temperance. The American people are coming to drink with less excess. Many of them have put aside of their own accord both the liquor and tobacco habits, many others of a determinate nature have taken up the new habits.

These new habits are not so popular as they once were. They are no longer the fashion. There was a time in certain circles when everybody did it. This has been changed. Most men drink or smoke as little without having it upon trial for social life. The change is sensible. Perhaps when there is less desire for liquor and tobacco there will be less objection to both and so much attempted regulation of either.

The pestiferous typhus has already made his appearance. Get out the sweater and get busy.

AN AWAKENING SENTIMENT.

President Wilson's Progressives will be disappointed. They are not so numerous. Disagreements in Congress, and they are going to remain, because they do not feel that they can "stand by the President." No less than three members of the House have made the announcement. They are not very numerous.

On the question of warning American citizens against taking passage on armed merchant sailing belligerent flags.

Members of Congress are not elected to represent the people. Some of our members are likely to be satisfied for not doing so unless they are forced enough to establish their positions with their constituents. Sometimes their constituents would rather be represented by their representatives.

New York American, a Democratic newspaper, voices an awakening public sentiment, when it says:

"For more than thirty years this attachment of the city to authority, the attachment of Congress to authority, has steadily increased, and unless some Congress is brave enough to assert its own sovereignty and to put an end to the aggrandizement of the Executive upon the people, it will become a constitutional monarchy in fact. It can never be too soon to settle the question as to whether this government is to be a President, a Congress and a Supreme Court—or whether it is to consist of a President, with Congress as a mere body of clerks to register his sovereign will."

A CITY PLANNER.

Pittsburgh now has its first, most magnificently fitted in the William Penn Hotel, which is said to be one of the finest hotels in the United States. It not only represents the enterprise of Pittsburgh business men but shows that Harry C. Price, in Pittsburgh, is having fun with the money to build the hotel. He has further improved the old Cathedral lot by a beautiful and spacious arcade, so that the whole section of the city which includes the Bank has become the social center of the city. It will perhaps never be known what Harry C. Price originally planned this property for, but it is certain that the city has lost nothing by reason of his foresight. As a city planner his is a great success.

The evidence at the inquest shows that the B. & O. shop victim was warned of the danger of their positions under the Kaiser, that the circumstances they would seem to be the sufferers from contributory negligence.

"The Brooks Law gives an excuse for making Crawford county dry," says a Westmoreland county paper. Perhaps, but a mighty poor one.

The Germans made a gain of 1,000 yards at Verdun, we read in the news. Sounds like football, but not a matter of fact it was mostly cannon ball.

The Mexican war will give the American troops a chance to try out their aeroplane service, but the submarines cannot operate on land.

Carranza wants the equal right to associate himself across the American border. Foreigners are not to have the right, but he ought never to have the opportunity to exercise it.

A Brownsville man has had his name changed. It was too German and he is English. The change was proper, perhaps something in names sometimes.

The B. & O. fireman found dead in his home may have leaped too far out of the window, but it is also possible that he might have struck with a stone or some other missile coming in. There are plenty of accidents of the latter character.

The spring styles of Fayette bond issues promises a wild variety.

This has been a busy winter for the blacksmiths.

The European war has made parts green too expensive for potato bags and the latter are preparing to protest against substitution.

LAST REGISTRATION DAYS.

Wednesday and Thursday are the last days for the registration and enrollment of voters.

The American people are coming to drink with less excess.

Many of them have put aside of their own accord both the liquor and tobacco habits.

These new habits are not so popular as they once were.

They are no longer the fashion.

BOXERS HERE FOR EXHIBITION BEFORE LOCAL CLUB TONIGHT

Al Rogers and Jerry Cole, Fast Middleweights; Go 10 Rounds.

PRELIMINARIES TO BE GOOD

Tommy Lavine and Willie Scott to Clash Again in the Semi-Final. Each Aiming for a Victory; Johnny Koch and Jimmy Barry Start Show.

A big crowd is expected at the boxing show tonight in Blasius Hall when Al Rogers of Buffalo and Jerry Cole come into town. Both of these men arrived in town today looking as fit as a fiddle for a big scrap. Rogers is in charge of Jimmy Mack, former manager of the Connellsburg baseball club. Mack says Rogers is a crack boxer.

The preliminaries will be no sides issue in this show for they bring together especially choice boys. Tommy Lavine who knocked out Harry Broad at the last show here will meet Willie Scott again. The two fighters fought a fast draw some time ago. Lavine is reinforced by many of the boxers with the Dunbar carnival last September.

Little Johnny Koch of Rochester who has been doing well with his fight fans at one of the shows last winter is more clever than ever this season and in Jimmy Barry of Pittsburg he has a worthy opponent.

The roundup will be 10 rounds, the semi-final eight and the preliminary six rounds.

SCOTTDALE WINS

Defeats Uniontown in a Fast Game of Basket ball.

The Scottdale high school basketball team defeated the Uniontown team on the Scottdale floor Saturday evening 21-21. The playing of the Uniontown team was not up to standard during the first half of the game although the team did come back in the last period.

In the last few minutes of play Uniontown caught up and tied the score. The game was finally broken by the Westmoreland county boys. The first part of the game was uninteresting, Scottdale having the upper hand all the time. When the whistle blew for the first period the game was tied.

The latter part of the game was rough and Uniontown jumped into the fray with lots of pep. Had any member of the team been able to shoot foul the visitors would have won the game but the two were only dropped out of 27.

Both Lee and Laughrey were out of the game Saturday and one entirely green man was put in the lineup. Lee has quit school and Laughrey has given up the team.

Scottdale high school will play at Scottdale next Saturday.

The score:

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Papo's Diaperoin" Ends all Stomach Distress in Five Minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the trouble? Well, don't bother.

If your stomach is taken off, it's messy and upset, and what you jumble has fermented into stomach lumps; head dizzy and achey; teeth gassy and acidic and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue contorted; just a little "Papo's Diaperoin" in the mixture you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diaperoin occasionall keeps the digestive organs regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal diet without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a benefit, for the quickest, surest, most abundant relief "Papo's Diaperoin" which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores, it's truly wonderful—digests food and sets things straight so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

For a few cents, don't go on and on with a weak, distressed stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Adv.

FEEBLE OLD PEOPLE

Are Told How to Regain Strength and Vigor.

Mrs. James A. Smith of Oakland, Calif., says—"My husband, now eighty-two years of age, is a retired veteran of the Navy, and he has been strengthless and unable to walk for several years. Vinol. My long experience with first-class physicians and nurses enables me to discriminate in medicines, and I know my Vinol has proved its wonderful qualities to relieve and strengthen the body under the very trying circumstances. When the blood is thin and needs strengthening, and to build up a depleted system, nothing equals Vinol."

We ask every reader of this paper in Connellsburg to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that we will return their money if it fails.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., Mar. 13.—When the special meeting is called by the school board for the purpose of considering the help-at-home movement of the schools, a sample report card will be presented to the board. The idea is to add 12 points to the monthly average on a basis of 60 to 24 on a basis of 100 for every quarter hour of work done excellent every day. This is exactly what one-quarter hour for each 100 excellent counts on school work. The friends of this plan expect it to work advantageously in two days it will improve conditions in the home by putting more time in the home for educational footing. The child will under the home tasks are not a form of service but development on the other hand it will make better students in school by having made better workers at home. It is believed that point that it might be the means of getting some pupils promoted who are always weak in their books, but home work has brought the averages above the passing mark. This has been discussed and they think could be done in very rare cases, the exception being that the best workers at home are good workers at school and on the other hand a less worker at school is generally a poor worker.

The report will be made once a week.

They walked on for some time in silence. Collingford's thoughts had turned away from her, and Alix followed them unwillingly. "Don't make one horrible mistake, Peter," she said when she was sure. "I don't imagine that I could ever love the brother of Ed Bodesky."

Collingford flushed, this time with shame. "No, of course not," he stammered.

"You see—or can't you see?" she went on, "that all this new life of mine I've hung on to a sliver of faith. I could not break out from this probation for my other man... do not mean that a woman can love but once—not necessarily. But do think that one life spent from a stone crystal is worth more than a thousand years of earth."

Alix mused. "I can't see him—I can't quite see him. A man who can accomplish anything and doesn't seem wrong—a waste."

"You don't see," said Collingford, "because you are facing us point of view. You must turn around. Bodysky used to say that all humanity had a soul, but it took a tragedy to make a man. His tragedy was to have cut him out from life. His wife, his creator, in was creation. Generation comes, creates Bodysky and still his standing like a scared head."

"I don't know," said Alix. "Oh, yes, I do. I remember. Someone told me that Alan surrounded himself with tarnished reputations."

Each followed the train of his own thoughts until they reached the pier. Alix did not get out of the cab. She seemed to wait there, lost in thought.

Collingford held her hand and his eyes looked back at her. "The St. Louis?" It holds you—it holds your eyes in—Vice. You wonder why, I'll tell you, it knows. That's the way it was with Bodysky. He only towered—knew—understood. It is nothing, Bodysky was nothing."

They were silent. Presently Collingford helped her out and together they passed through the richoyer, the fatted palm room, and up the steps into the latest, airy dining room. A little table in the far corner had been reserved for them. They sat, ordered the oysters, a bushlet over the tubs. Some frank and were silent because Alix was so beautiful and distinctly gowned and Collingford all that a man should by, but those who knew looked because Alix was Alix and Collingford was Collingford. Then soon fell to whispering, predicting, muttering, Alix bowed, abashedly, her and there as she followed the lead waltz to her seat.

"They sat down, each half-facing the room. Alix caught her breath. "Whirling the old air?" asked Collingford.

"No," answered Alix. "Only slightly. I feel so out of it and thus alight."

"No wonder you don't quarrel with them," said Alix in frank admiration.

"Alan, where are you going to come back? Don't you ever tire of life as a society show? Wouldn't you rather have one real steady star in life than a whole lot of tarnished stars ones?"

Alan jumped to his feet, stuck his hands in his coat pockets and started walking up and down the somber room. They were in the library. "A steady star," he repeated. "What a find that would be! I've read many, a star on my horizon, Alix, but the longer I look at 'em the more they twinkle back. I'm unable to downcast a star that's down in blood."

"In the end," said Alix, "a man must down blood or it down him—downs him irretrievably. Blood unchecked, is just common beast."

"Do you think I don't know it?" flashed Alix. "Each day I find an old haunt denied to me. I am ill at ease. My world has left you behind. There is a pale. Behind it lies Red Hill. Do you know I haven't been to the Hill for three years? Behind it lies Nance, the faultiest, most truant foster-sister a waster ever had. And now you. You lie behind it and toy with my soul through the bars."

Alix sprang to her feet. "I laid strong, two hands on Alan's shoulders. She shook him and turned him so that he faced the light. Alan did not laugh. "There was fire in Alix's eyes. "You little thing," she said tensely, "not to see that the bars are down."

He turned under her hands and she let him go. He stood looking out of the window at the bare trees. Alix watched him. "Alan, you can come to the Hill tonight. They—we—are all going to be together here. It's Clem's birthday. If you can feel the pain, that's enough for me. I want you to be with me."

"Alan, believe me or not, it's because I feel the pain that I won't come."

"What's the name of this place? I can't make it out."

"It's a little hole on the borders of Tibet. That paper's been handed along for five months. The envelope is made in wax tatters."

"Dear Old Pal," read Alix. "Do you remember what I used to tell you? When a man has seen all the world he must go home or die. When he has parted and three hours left to get to the right town, I have sent you my battery. The forces are a bit too strong, though, and I can't show it to anyone else. Tremble has made you faint-hearted. Read it."

Backache Just Like a Toothache!

Dear Mr. Editor—Sometime ago I had backache very bad; it would ache just like a toothache. I tried a "cure" discovery of Doctor Pierce's, called "Auricle." This is for kidneys and backache. I soon felt relieved of all backache and had no more pain, and I hope others troubled in the same way will try this wonderful remedy.

Yours, Mrs. LUCILLE STEARNS, Route 1, Meadville, Pa.

Note: It is now accepted with confidence that these painful effects due to the cure of the kidney are entirely eradicated. A new remedy, called "Auricle," has been discovered by Dr. Pierce, and the cure is still outside of the field within which it comes in contact with the body. It will ward off backache, headache, and toothache, and will also relieve muscular rheumatism—of those diseases which are caused by too much uric acid, such as gout, rheumatism, and kidney trouble. Auricle relieves life of old people usually suffer from hardening and thickening of the walls of the arteries, due to uric acid in the blood and tissues.

Dr. Pierce, who is director and chief physician at the New York Institute of Technology, Buffalo, N. Y., has been testing this wonderful medicine for the relief of over-worked and strained muscles, and has found that by sufferers has been so satisfactory that he determined to name "Auricle" with the principal drugstore. In this ready-to-use medicine, "Auricle" is not harmful to poison, but aids nature in throwing off these poisons, thus restoring health and energy. Scientists assert this remedy is 37 times more potent than like.

Dr. Pierce's favorite prescription for the cure of kidney trouble, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for red blood.
